

NAT GREENE FLY FISHERS NEWS LETTER

January 2013

Happy New Year!

January 8, Tuesday at 7 pm Leonard Recreation Center - Jim Brady is going to talk about building a Graphite Fly Rod. As we have already seen Jim has many talents and Tuesday he will tell us how to build our own graphite fly rod. Come join us and learn that with a few materials, and equipment you can build that perfect rod.

Please note that the bridge on Ballinger Rd. is still under construction, so access is by way of N. Chimney Rock Rd.

Don't forget our upcoming events:

February 9-10 – The Fly Fishing Show in Winston-Salem

We will share a booth with Blue Ridge TU from W-S and will need volunteers to help man the booth during the show to help promote our club.

February 12 – Club Meeting TBA

February 15 – We will be at Greensboro Day School helping them with a Casting, Tying, Fly Fishing Clinic. We will need volunteers to assist with the casting, tiers to demo and teach how to tie flys and people to talk about equipment and fly fishing.

March 2 – Our Annual Banquet and Seminar – The speaker will be George Daniel and it will be at the New Garden Moose Family Center in Greensboro.

George Daniel is a two time US National Fly Fishing Champion, he is the head coach for the NC Competition Fly Fishing Team <http://ncflyfishingteam.com/>, he is the author of the best selling book “Dynamic Nymphing”, and he has been published in Fly Fisherman and Fly Tying magazines.

If you are like me, you do not fully understand what competition fly fishing is. I have read different articles and learned enough to respect it, and realize that it requires the fisherman to quickly adapt to any conditions in order to succeed. Friday I discovered the below article which fully explains it. Please follow this link to an article by Bill Steudler for a very interesting and thorough explanation. <http://troutlegend.com/category/event-organizer-insider/>

Please remember the success of the banquet depends on YOU! Please try to solicit donations from vendors which we can raffle or auction off. It can be any item, trip, or discounted service which you think others would want to win.
